XEN. The embellishment of silence.

XEN is in essence well-balanced. It is silence in pure form. Brings time and freedom to create the essential. Is being as opposed to show. Gives time the necessary space. XEN is minimalist in conception. Philosophy that has taken a physical form.

Manufactured in Germany, XEN has been successfully sold in Germany for over two years and in other parts of Europe including Italy, the Netherlands, and Switzerland. XEN's recent release in the United States has received rave reviews.

The XEN collection is sleek, cool, and slightly avant-garde. It combines satin matte-finished stainless steel and the finest diamonds with the highest quality in European workmanship. Unique names imbue each piece with individual character and style.

LILLIAN BALL

Stealthy irony makes Lillian Ball's jewelry a conversation starter, while minimalist design makes each piece a stylish complement to formal wear or a playful everyday accessory.

Pill forms such as muscle relaxers, sleeping pills, vitamins, potency pills, and candies such as breathmints, mini chicklets, and sweetarts all find their way into the jewelry designs of artist Ball.

Ball uses cast sterling silver and 18K gold to bring into focus the overlooked beauty of familiar forms. The overall effect is a captivating aesthetic, fascinating meaning, or both.

Both a jeweler and a sculptor, Ball exhibits her artwork across the United States as well as in Europe, and has earned the recent distinction of a Guggenheim Foundation fellowship in visual arts.
